

Hungary has 10 bilingual French sections; the first was opened in 1987. In their 20 years of existence, these sections have developed an excellent French-language education, as was recognised by the attribution of the Label FrancÉducation label. Awarded by the French Ministry of Foreign Affairs and of International Development, the label recognises the quality of bilingual French education worldwide.

FRENCH
BILINGUAL EDUCATION

10 GOOD REASONS TO CHOOSE A BILINGUAL FRENCH INSTITUTION

1. The bilingual French sections are part of large and prestigious, well performing schools in Budapest and in the provinces.

2. Bilingual French schools all have experienced native French and Hungarian teachers.

3. Bilingual French education is not just about learning the French language but also studying history, geography, civilization and science in French.

4. Bilingual French education is a chance for your child: they will find a job more easily in the labour market both at home and abroad.

5. Bilingual French institutions are very active and regularly offer your child a variety of activities: field trips, foreign exchange programs, competitions and the internationally recognized DELF-DALF French language exams.

6. Bilingual French education allows your child to develop and strengthen their language skills in their mother tongue, in French and English and in other foreign languages.

7. It has been proven that bilingual education improves the learners' cognitive skills. Join a French bilingual institution and it will allow your child to learn more easily and enhance their ability to concentrate.

8. By developing curiosity and tolerance, bilingual French education helps students open up to the world.

9. Students with a French bilingual baccalaureate may receive a Hungarian diploma of French language, level C1, very useful for reaching the institutions of Hungarian higher education.

10. Students with a French bilingual baccalaureate can access the French higher education institutions in privileged conditions (no language exam required, opportunity to receive a scholarship).
